LIBERAL EXPERIMENTS

(Calgary Herald) Hon. R. B. Bennett employed an apt expression in his address before the Women's Liberal-Conservative Association when he declared that the Liberals determined their policy by experiment, not by any thought of the future. Twenty years ago Sir Clifford Sifton said in a speech in Ontario that the tariff was a dead thing accepted by both Liberals and Conservatives, and that it would not be greatly changed by either party. Only one attempt of a serious nature has since been made to change it--the reciprocity effort of 1911--and the people of Canada at that time decided for the politicians that the tariff must not be altered by the process then contemplated. The Liberals did not return to the protective tariff; they simply continued it much to the relief of many of the members of the opposition. Thus they proved the soundness of Sir Clifford Sifton's contention. This was one experiment that failed. The Liberals have not repeated it. They propose now to reduce the duty on farm implements. Whether they will reduce it to any considerable extent remains to be seen. That the tariff reduction proposed will be of much value to the farmers is open to question. The point is not in respect to the size of the reduction but to the thought back of the reduction. It is not being given to help the farmers. It is a sop to the Progressives. The government has to have Progressive support to retain power. Without thought of the "long tomorrow" they plunge headlong into a poorly digested scheme of tariff mutilating in order to get the temporary benefit of Progressive support in the house. The effect upon the farmer is not calculated, nor the effect upon a large Canadian industry; all that enters the opportunist mind of a government straining to hold power is whether by this action it can buy over the Progressives.

This process of experimenting can have only a passing effect. The people will not be deceived, least of all the farmers, who will soon realize the small size of the purchase price at which their representatives turned over their votes to the Liberals.

HAYNES

March 16th, 1924. Mr. Randall was taken to the Red Deer Hospital last Saturday and is progressing favorably. Miss Claxton is spending a couple of weeks with her brother at Trochu. We wondered what was the matter with last week's Lottery. It was hardly up to the former high standard. We missed Mr. Randall's jolly presence. The program was about as usual, but the platform is not as powerful as the "press". The program was supported by Lucella Irish and Fred Stone, and the affirmative, argued by Miss Tucker and Mr. Irish. The young people were not quite as well attended as last week's at Eldora, but very good prices on the whole were realized. The families are not moving for a couple of weeks yet, and we're glad they are going no farther than Red Deer. Mrs. Warner's sister, Beverly Bass, is staying with her a week or two. Superintendent Read, of the Lacombe Experimental Farm, addressed the local U.F.A. Tuesday night. However, the farmers somewhat resent having government employees, who don't make farming pay even with a perfectly equipped plant, all there but not making money ends met, at least that's the logical conclusion. Even experimenting should carry too heavy an overhead when the poor farmers in general have to pay the deficit.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19th, 1924.

THE HONOUR OF A PEOPLE

For weeks past the daily press in the United States and Canada has been full of more or less sensational reports as to scandals in the public life of the States. The Teapot Dome Oil Scandal, the Veterans Bureau scandal, the Department of Justice scandal—all seem to be revealing in American public life corruption to an extent without ascertainable limits. The names of leading Americans, alive and dead, are being brought out after another into association with transactions the nature of which can only be described as dubious in the extreme. In the case of the Veterans Bureau there has been published all over the States and Canada a series of articles accusing a certain Colonel Forney and his associates of embezzlement, of misappropriation of funds, of the use of public funds on a scale which appears to surpass anything of the kind previously known. The accusations have been made with circumstantial detail, yet no steps against the author and the publishers of them seem to have been taken by Forbes or the other concerned, although they have not even been put on trial, much less convicted of the crimes they are accused of.

The daily reports in the press are not easy to follow. Committee investigations seem to be constantly ailing or about to silt. Prosecution seems to be being constantly postponed, and as constantly objected to on the ground of interest. Witnesses appear before the committees and stoutly deny all allegations against them, manage to involve some one else in the charges, so that the investigation hounds go rushing off in a new scent with a new clamour of indignation. It is proclaimed that drastic action is about to be taken—always about to be taken. It never seems to get further than that.

No one seems able to foresee what the outcome of it all will be. It may ruin the chances of the Republican party at the presidential election in November next. It may destroy our public life various individuals. It seems unlikely that any of the guilty people will be seriously punished. The man who steals $500.00 from a bank messenger spends years in the penitentiary. The men who beguile lions from sick and disabled soldiers, or barter away the resources or the justice of a nation merely to feed their appetites, are not even held to account. It is not enough to tempt them to say that they are sick of speculation, election campaigns, newspaper advertisements, and long judicial investigations under cover of which selfish rival financial interests intrigue and manoeuvre? Must they not seek for the uplifting of another Roosevelt to play in the United States something like the part which Mussolini has played in Italy, or the Marquis Pío de Rivera in Spain? Democratic representative government has received another serious shock to its credit. It is not so unshakably established that it can stand an indefinite number of such shocks.

MODERN CRUSADERS

There was formed last year in England a new order—the Order of Crusaders—and it is now reported that a similar order is being formed in Canada, affiliated to the original one in England. The order has a ritual, a regalia, a uniform of its own. Its officers have sounding titles of ceremony. Professes to have been formed for high and noble ends—and it is a secret order.

There may be reasons for secrecy. There were times in the history of the world when tyranny, injustice, wickedness were thrown on high, and those who intended to assail these things were compelled by hard necessity to form their organizations in secret. For the time being that is not now the case. The watchwords of society are freedom, justice, righteousness. It is the enemies not the friends of these who must organize in secret. It is thought and said by some today that there are dark and powerful forces laying their plans for the overthrow of what is good in the world. There are whisperers of gigantic financial schemes plotting against Christian order and freedom. It may be that there is some truth in these fears. Is it against such forces or interests that the modern Crusaders are organizing in secret?

There are certain things in the world today which indeed call for a modern crusade, a terrible menacing evil which such as the drug traffic and the white slave trade, but against them it is hardly necessary yet to organize in secret. It is rather the things which are so easily taken for granted, the things which the more effective will be the campaign.

It would be well that the leaders of these new Crusaders should so far as possible make plain their objects and their purposes, for nothing is necessary to them. We all understand why the military authorities in the late war had to impose secrecy on the nation. It is not easy to understand without some explanation such a necessity on the part of the Crusaders. Without such explanation one may be tempted to ask whether this is another edition of the modern Ku Klux Klan, an adoption of a movement once useful but now no longer needed, with a view to using its name and prestige as a cover for something more elevating than mutual support in the pursuit of self-interest. Such mutual support may be quite a legitimate end, but does not call for semi-religious ritual, regalia and titles. The use of these things when they no longer accurately symbolize the purposes of their possessors tends towards hypocritical buffoonery, the dragging of great traditions in the dust of ignoble selfishness. Our modern Crusaders would do well to avoid even the suspicion of such things.

HELP YOURSELVES

There was one thoroughly refreshing feature about the speech of Mr. H. W. Wood made in Red Deer last week to the farmers as to the wheat pool. He made not the slightest attempt to attribute the present difficulties of the farmers to outside circumstances, or to legislative law tariffs. He put those difficulties down to the farmers' own lack of co-operation and business capacity, and he told them that they never would get rid of their difficulties until they gave intelligent study to the question of marketing their products in unison and under the guidance of their own experts.

That is the absolute truth. The farmers have been concentrating all their attention on production and giving no thought to disposal of their products. Mr. Wood recognizes that in business everyone tries to buy as cheaply as possible and to sell as dearly as possible. There is no use the farmers crying out about the grain dealers, the cattle buyers, the sheep vendors and all the other business men being consumers of the province of Canada, until they are ready to pay for little to the farmer for his produce and charging him so much for their manufactures. What the farmers have to do is to beat these fellows at their own game, and the way to do it is by co-operating and having the best marketing agents they can possibly find amongst themselves.

Ernest Torrence, Bebe Daniels and Lloyd Hughes in a scene from Zane Grey's "The Heritage of the Desert" A Paramount Picture

Rex Theatre—Thursday, Friday and Saturday

or amongst the business men.

Some farmers are inclined to say that as soon as anyone becomes an agent for them, draws a large salary and lives in a town, he promptly betrays them and their interests to the middlemen. This is probably quite untrue, but if it has been so, the farmers, again have their own remedy. Let them appoint their man, and if he does not produce results, let them sack him ruthlessly and without paying the slightest attention to any excuses however plausible. Revolution is France in its dire peril from invading enemies gave notice to its generals that they must win victories or lose their heads by the guillotine, and it kept its word. If the general said that victory was impossible, France merely replied: "So much the worse for you," and took their heads off. Under such circumstances French generals became enthusiastic and successful organizers of victory.

Others than farmers may take a lesson from Mr. Wood's speech. If we fall at any point, we had better look for the cause of failure in ourselves first before we begin to blame others or find fault with circumstances. In the first place, we shall probably find the cause of failure more quickly by doing this. In the second place, it is easier to amend our own conduct than to persuade others to amend theirs in our interest.

EDITORIAL NOTES

We recommend to the attention of our readers, especially our rural readers, the small booklet "Seasonable Hints," issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. We have just received the March number. In it are some very instructive articles dealing with the various phases of farming throughout the Dominion, with farming in preparation for dry years, with summer-fallow substitutes, silage, production of butter fat, and other matters.

E. S. Hopkins, Dominion Field Husbandman, in writing of farming methods, states that criticism is frequently made that the farmer is a miserly and wasteful and his farming methods not as useful or profitable as they should be, and goes on to show that such statements are not true. By a comparison of the income tax paid by the farmers of the various Provinces of Canada in the four years 1918 to 1921, inclusive, he is able to prove that the average Canadian farmer in Alberta in the order named, as far as farming is concerned, the three most prosperous Provinces of Canada.

Mr. Hopkins says, "Nowhere in the world is the production of food greater than in the Dominion of Canada. It is amazing to learn that a half-section farmer produces enough food in a single year to last him and his family all the remainder of his life."

And yet, as he has to admit in the same article, the returns in farming as compared with other forms of occupation, are worse than at any time within the memory of men who have farmed a lifetime.

The City of Red Deer should show some legitimate recognition of the splendid advertising given her by the young people on the "Boys" basketball team and on the hockey team. Both teams have been under handicaps as regards facilities for regular efficient practice, and yet they have put up splendid games at all times.

Figures compiled by the Government from actual tests made prove that the more one is able to increase the milk production from a cow or a dairy herd, the less will be the feed cost per pound of butter fat or milk. Even the extra heavy milk production, requiring as it does liberal feeding, is the most economical production.

Harry Leader, member for Portage in Prairie, wants the salaries of all members of parliament cut 12½ per cent. We hope it is not the case that he has first satisfied himself that the present of Canada is a means of self-education.

The Good Roads Board should be abolished. It was brought into being in keeping with the pre-election pledges of the U.F.A. The minister now declares that he, and not the Board, must say where the money must be spent on roads. It appears to be a waste of money keeping the Board in existence if the breaking or abandonment of the pledges previously given.

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton.

Average value per farm of field and garden crops produced in Alberta in 1923 was higher than in any other province of Canada according to a table prepared by the publicity branch of the department of agriculture. The figures are based on the latest revision of the number of farms as shown in the 1921 census.

The figures used by Alberta valuers are those compiled by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and are the latest available. The figures for other provinces are those issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

With a total value of field and garden crops in 1923 of $171,036,804, and a total of $2,200 farms occupied as shown by the 1921 census, Alberta is shown to have an average value per farm of the above crops of $2,055.60. Saskatchewan, its nearest rival with respect to value of 1923 crops, shows an average value of $2,025.00 per farm.

Many Settlers Coming
According to reports reaching Edmonton from reliable sources, it is expected that a large party of Swedish settlers will arrive in Alberta shortly from the old land, and will be distributed to buy farms. During the coming year it is stated that some 1,000 of these settlers will come to northern Alberta.

Hutterites Buy Land
Three thousand acres of land south-east of Lethbridge have recently been purchased by a new colony of Hutterites, at a figure which is stated to be $20,000.

Large Mills for Alberta
A British party, the Western Mill, of Cardiff, Wales, is responsible for the statement that Spillers, the large milling interests of Britain, will erect large flour mills in Calgary, Alberta, the coming year. It is also understood that this firm is negotiating for the purchase of elevators at the Pacific Coast to handle Alberta wheat.

Production of Alberta Mines
Further figures regarding the operation of coal mines in Alberta during 1923 are given below:

The greatest number of mines in operation during the year was 362, with a maximum of 11,477 men working during the month of December. At the end of December there were 258 mines working.

The total production was divided as follows: Domestic coal, 3,157,741 tons; sub-bituminous coal, 463,431 tons; bituminous, 3,241,354 tons; anthracite, 107 tons; briquets, 30,636 tons.

Ship Cattle to Japan
By arrangements made by Hon. Geo. Howard, Minister of Agriculture, the trial shipment of cows and steers will be made in the near future to Japan, for the purpose of testing out the possibilities of a market for Alberta's livestock in that country. It is also understood that the Department will, with the shipment, a qualified investigator who will look into the possibilities of a market for all of Alberta's farm products.

THE VALUE OF THE MALE BIRD

A. G. Taylor, Poultry Husbandman, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in his Experimental Farm notes, has this to say about the value of the male bird:

A brood-laying male bird should have four things, each of almost equal importance, because the lack of any of them will adversely affect the offspring. The four characters are breed type, brood-laying breeding, constitution and vigour.

The male bird should be fairly typical of the breed he represents. If he does not possess breed type, the general type of the flock will not be uniform and the sale of his progeny, especially the male progeny, will be limited. No poultry breeder purchases male birds simply because they are male birds. Breed type in the male either helps or scatters type in the poultry flock.

That the male should be of the right breeding is of the greatest importance. If high egg production is the desired object. There is no surer way to failure than to introduce a male bird of a poor producing line. The degree of success met with in the egg production of his daughters depends almost entirely on the amount of high producing ancestors he has. Certainly his dam should have produced 200 eggs or over in her pullet year, and his granddam has laid 200 eggs or over in her pullet year, so much the better.

That the male should be the best of a good male is a very important factor in his chances of passing on that desirable character to his progeny. So important is this character that a good brood-laying strain can be ruined in one season by an inferior male.

Constitution is very necessary. If the stamina of a high producing flock is to be maintained. To improve the laying ability of a flock is wasted effort unless the birds have the constitution to withstand the strain of high production. A male of poor constitution will never pass on rugged constitutions to his offspring.

The right male bird is one well grown for his age, and that stands straight on his legs. He should have a good full breast, good depth of body, and above all a good muscular body.

Vigor is also very important, for without vigor the hatchlings from the matings would necessarily be weak. In the male bird will give good fertile eggs that will hatch strong chicks, the kind that can pick their shell to the other side of the incubator, or dry rapidly, become fluffy, and will grow into a fine stock with a low death rate and the least trouble and greatest profit to their owner.

CO-OP. MARKETING IN DAIRY INDUSTRY

Called for the purpose of considering recent movements in the province toward co-operative marketing in the dairy industry, the executive of the Alberta Dairy Farmers' Association, the representatives of the producers' section, and the manufacturers of dairy products met Thursday, March 6th, at the Macdonald Hotel, Edmonton.

Warns Against Haste
The Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, spoke very plainly on the principle of co-operative marketing of dairy products. "Until you are very sure you have something as good or better," stated Mr. Hoadley, "it is very dangerous to interfere with the present satisfactory conditions in the dairy industry of the province. True co-operation must come from each individual. A few cannot go about agitating and bring about a successful co-operative movement," he declared. In his opinion the dairy business of the province did credit to those who had built it up. During the course of a long address, the speaker reviewed dairying conditions in other countries, including Denmark. Bad conditions there had forced a change and co-operative marketing there had been successfully introduced.

Market Good Now
Turning to Alberta, he reminded them that thirty years ago there was no market for cream in the province but there was now established a splendid system of creameries with up-to-date plants and equipment.

"Alberta is leading the whole Dominion in the quality of dairy products placed in the world markets," stated Mr. Hoadley, "and it would be very dangerous to disturb the present condition."

He strongly advised that until a better system was in sight, they should stay by the present facilities for marketing. In closing he referred to the bad conditions reported in Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries at the present time.

FINALE

Mary had always been rather attentive to me. That is, I thought she was until after I came home at Thanksgiving. Then she greeted me with a very cool expression when I saw her that night. I couldn't understand it at all. There was something mysterious in the air.

"Well," she said, "well, what have you to say for yourself?"
"That was extraordinary. I couldn't for the life of me think of anything I had done. Still, my mind must be assuaged."

"Nothing," I said softly, and waited for the skies to talk.

"Nothing," she said wonderingly. "But you must have something to say. You always have before. Then I understood, and proposed for the last time. Now I am still wondering if she was playing a last joke on me. We are married—Brown Jug."

SUITABLE VARIETIES OF SMALL GRAINS FOR ALBERTA

G. H. Cutler, Professor of Field Husbandry, University of Alberta.

There is so much enquiry regarding varieties of grains for Alberta, it seems important that a brief statement be made at this time, in which such information as is available from experiment, experience and observation be set forth as a working guide to crop producers.

Spring Wheat
Suitable wheat varieties for Alberta combine high yield and high quality. In 1923 Alberta secured the high distinction of producing the world's best wheat. It was its high quality, combined with high yield and purity, excellent color and plumpness, which merited this enviable achievement. The variety that brought this honour to Alberta was Marquis, a wheat of world-wide reputation. Let us endeavor to maintain the high position secured for Alberta wheat by using only such varieties as are best suited to our conditions.

In addition to high yield and quality, early maturity, non-shattering propensity, strong straw and disease resistance are characters to be desired.

(1) Milling.
Several varieties of spring wheat are grown. Many are used to a limited extent where early fall frosts are feared. Marquis is the standard variety, although in dry seasons in areas of limited rainfall, its straw-length makes it a little difficult to harvest. Kitchener is grown to a limited extent. Red Robs is also grown. Haron, Stanley, Ladoga and Club, while inferior, are used, although not recommended, in the central and northern sections. Kola is a new wheat variety from North Dakota, which is not recommended at present for Alberta. It does not yield well as Marquis, is bearded, weak-strawed, and also shorter in the straw than Marquis. Its chief recommendation is its resistance to rust, a disease which does not prevail sufficiently in Alberta to warrant this longer fielding and otherwise somewhat undesirable wheat variety. We believe that our growers will not take any chances with Kola when they become familiar with its shortcomings, and know that the very choicest registered seed of Marquis can be purchased in the province, at the Provincial Government Seed Cleaning Plant at Edmonton, and at a much lower price per bushel.

(2) Durum or Macaroni
We do not recommend the use of any of the Durum or macaroni varieties of wheat for the following reasons:
1. Rust does not prevail in Alberta sufficiently to warrant taking chances with these wheats, which are subject only for their resistance to rust.

2. The market for Durum wheat is very limited and uncertain, there being very little European demand.
3. Use of these wheats will meet with inevitable mixture with our very popular milling wheats like Marquis.

When mixture occurs between milling and Durum wheats the miller discriminates heavily against them. In fact, he does not want such wheat at all, and a loss of several cents per bushel results.

5. At the T. Eaton Exposition recently held in Winnipeg, where the writer acted as judge of wheat, many of the samples exhibited from areas of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, where Durum is grown, were rejected entirely because of the mixture of macaroni wheat found in the milling samples. Mixture is inevitable as sure as Durum wheats are introduced.

6. There is nothing to be gained, and much to be lost, by using the Macaroni or Durum wheats. The chief variety on the market at present is Kubanka, another is Acme; neither, however, is recommended for Alberta.

Winter Wheat
Winter wheat production in Alberta has fallen off considerably in favour of spring wheat during the last six or seven years. This is due in part to the superior quality of spring wheat, and also to the fact that winter wheat is hampered by certain soil and other factors not well understood.

Winter wheat is being experimented with at the University to ascertain the most suitable varieties. At present such varieties as Kharkov, Turkey Red, and similar of these, are being used with much loss due to winter killing.

Oats
Alberta oats excel in size, plumpness, weight and quality. Their superior merits have won four grand championships and a very great number of prizes in the last four years at the International Hay and Grain Show in the Winnipeg, viz. Banner and Victory. Abundance has also won numerous prizes. These, together with Swedish Select, Gold Rain and Ligwa are among the highest yielding oats in tests conducted at the University.

The following varieties are recommended:
Six-rowed—O.A.C. No. 21, Manchurian, Barka.
Two-rowed—Canadian Thorpe, Hanschen.
Beardless—Improved White Hulls.
Hulled Bearded—Gay Maple.

Alberta seeds of all farm crops enjoy much distinction today by virtue of their wining at the Chicago Grain and Hay Show during the last four years. These winnings have been secured largely because of the outstanding purity of variety of our seeds. No one who has not visited the International Fair at Chicago, and seen the purity of our seeds, can appreciate the importance of purity. It is the first thing that the judges examine for, and a sample showing the presence of other classes of grains or seeds, or other varieties of the same kind, does not stand a chance of winning.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Good home-made bread is the finest food on earth—the one food that everybody likes—and that agrees with everybody.

not stand the slightest chance of securing a prize.
When deciding upon seed for the coming season one should, therefore, keep in mind the excellent reputation which Alberta seeds enjoy, and endeavor to guard it most jealously by using only the most suitable varieties.

Professor (very near-sighted)—Hullo, Jones. You look like someone else. James—I am. This isn't Jones—Pitt Panther.

"Friend," said Cactus Joe to the stranger in Crimson Gulch, "you have sold four of a kind three times, a royal flush twice, and several ace fives."

"Lucky, I call it."
"You're luckier than you think. The boys here is willing to let you go your way intact provided you start immediately. There won't be any gun play unless you linger. The big luck fur you is the fact that you happened to pick 'Safety First' week for your performance at this here card table." Washington Star.

CANCER ISOLATED BY CANADIAN

BDr. Glover of Toronto is "Unknown Physician" Hereafter. He has made "Greatest Discovery of the Age" in Hospital Meeting.

New York, March 11.—The reappearance of Dr. Thomas J. Glover and his serum for cancer is expected here within the next sixty days. That Dr. Glover, formerly of Toronto, is "The Unknown Canadian Physician" who has made the greatest medical discovery of the age" is announced by Dr. M. J. Scott at a staff meeting of the physicians of St. Joseph Hospital at Omaha, Nebraska, on Saturday.

Not only the segregation of the cancer germ but a serum that has performed complete cures in numbers of institutions throughout the United States is attributed to the unit identified Canadian with whom Dr. Scott has been working in collaboration. "Just as certain as we are that the typhoid germ is the germ that causes typhoid, just as certain as we are that the cancer germ causes cancer, just as certain as we are, said Dr. Scott, that we have at last isolated the cause of cancer."

That such an announcement was coming was forecasted by Dr. Glover himself, to a prominent Toronto physician who visited him in his secret New York laboratory at New Year's time.

Dr. Glover told the Bulletin that a number of leading New York physicians and hospitals were working with him in holding cancer clinics. The Bulletin had a reporter get in touch with the leading New York hospitals and also with a number of the leading cancer experts in New York, but all of them said they had no knowledge of Dr. Glover or his cancer research, his laboratory is in the downtown quarter, three stories high. A reporter who called repeatedly was not allowed inside, but caught glimpses of cages of rabbits ranged along the walls within.

Dr. Scott at Omaha is reported to have told of taking this germ and isolating it into animals free from cancer and watching the cancer develop, removing this cancer again, isolating the germ, and growing cultures again.

"We have been able to isolate this same bug in every case of cancer that has come under observation," said Dr. Scott.

PREPAREDNESS

A chap was making a call on his particular fiancée of the moment. The younger brother strolled into the parlor while he was with her, and he said, "Do you know, Jack, whether Marjory is expecting me or not?" "I guess she must be. She's upstairs making the pins out of her belt." Princeton Tiger.

EDWELL

U. F. A. News

March 11th, 1924.
The U.F.A. social held at the school house, Tuesday evening, was quite a pleasant event. The programme, although short, was exceptionally good;
special mention being given to the Willowdale Moonshiners (A. P. P.
please take note) in their "take-off"
of the famous "The Land of the Living"
session. However, our President will see they are assigned good positions
in the Company. I believe there'll be a rush for the high seats, eh?

After the programme, the ladies
served an excellent lunch, knowing
the only way to get the boys home was
via the inner man.

We were greatly favored by the presence of Mr. H. Wallace, Spring-vale; also with the interesting address and vocal assistance he gave us.
George, the U.F.A. member, was also present, and I noted he played the role of Romeo to perfection. Evidently Jack is an actor in the embryo.
The U.F.A. members, in order to
order to McKenzie, seed merchants,
for a supply of canary and linnet seed,
which he intended sowing around the
over the district, so I am informed.
What a Paradise 'twill be a year
hence.

EDWELL

U. F. A. News

March 11th, 1924.
The U.F.A. social held at the school house, Tuesday evening, was quite a pleasant event. The programme, although short, was exceptionally good;
special mention being given to the Willowdale Moonshiners (A. P. P.
please take note) in their "take-off"
of the famous "The Land of the Living"
session. However, our President will
see they are assigned good positions
in the Company. I believe there'll be
a rush for the high seats, eh?

After the programme, the ladies
served an excellent lunch, knowing
the only way to get the boys home was
via the inner man.

We were greatly favored by the presence of Mr. H. Wallace, Spring-
vale; also with the interesting address and vocal assistance he gave us.
George, the U.F.A. member, was also present, and I noted he played the role of Romeo to perfection. Evidently Jack is an actor in the embryo.
The U.F.A. members, in order to
order to McKenzie, seed merchants,
for a supply of canary and linnet seed,
which he intended sowing around the
over the district, so I am informed.
What a Paradise 'twill be a year
hence.

The account of W. E. Johnson for horses impounded on December 23, amounting to $9.75, was not allowed,
on motion by Councillor Stringer, as his opinion the animal was not lawfully impounded.

The following accounts were presented to the Council, examined and ordered to be paid: Div. 1—Manning,

A Form of Public Ownership

MUTUAL Life Insurance is a form of public ownership. The policyholders own the Company and, through its elected directors, control its affairs, subject to regular government audit and inspection. The Mutual Life works on a safe, sound, conservative, actuarial basis.

Profits derived from the business of the Company are paid back to the policyholders. That means that insurance in the Mutual Life is insurance at a minimum cost.

The investment of the funds of the Company is directed by able and far-sighted financiers. The history of Mutual Life policies shows that insurance in this Company can be carried at a surprisingly low cost, on account of the liberal dividends paid.

Discuss your insurance needs with our agent, who will explain the Mutual policies. Or write us direct for booklets on Mutual Insurance.

SATINWOOD SMILES

March 12th, 1924.
The world renowned writer of Satinwood Smiles, whose fame far exceeds George Washington and Saint Patrick (at home) is, to use a beautiful expression, tickled to death that his exquisite contributions to The News has brought some beams, or should one say sun beams, to Brookley. In Brookley there are lots of Boomers, and now it is to be known as the home of the Boomers. Evidently the Smile Pool idea is taking hold and it will turn from a pool to an ocean. His kind and artistic style that they prefer smiles to wrinkles and water cress.
Now the naughty person must be English. Winkles are a rare delicacy which, in his memory serves him right, are extracted by a pin. One must be an expert in the art of pin welding to extract Mr. Winkle from his home. He believes it is done with a circular motion. In his home unfortunately there are no winkles or pins.
He nearly said, Yes, we have no winkles, and the only pins procurable are hair pins, and his wife invariably says "No," when he asks for one.
Anyhow, hair pins and winkles are not a combination nice people would use. He hereby requests that the next time he goes to the home of the writer that they will please have winkles and watercress for tea. We then can have Smiles, Beams, Winkles, Cress and Buns. The after effects could be blown away by Blackfalds Breezes.

I told the Brookley ladies discussed the subject of "What to do with our boys and girls." Our advice is, don't set out to educate the children. Let Grain hauling be in abundance, and the more elegant pastime of juggling with wooden blocks be in vogue. In full swing, the operator in chief being Mr. Len Sage. Len is a pastmaster of the art, and his herculean efforts and prowess with the logs remind one of shooting stars.

The Jungle Troupe are assisting at a concert at Brookley on the 21st and at Satinwood on the 28th. Both concerts are for charitable objects.

Here and There

The gold mines of Northern Ontario broke all previous records in the month of January when they produced approximately $2,100,000, based on preliminary reports received from the mines.

It is reported that arrangements have been made for the financing of a $600,000 plant in Edmonton, Alta., for the manufacture of paving blocks from the tar sands of Fort McMurray.

The first of the private fur auction sales which the Hudson Bay Company has decided to hold in future at their head office in Montreal took place recently, when a collection of various furs, estimated roughly at $25,000 to $30,000 value, was put up for sale by sealed bids.

FROM OUR POINT OF VIEW

We would consider it good business for anyone who intends to build this season, to place their orders now.
Present conditions of the lumber market indicate higher prices.
Let us arrange to protect you against the advance.
